MONDAY, APRIL 4, 1887.

A GRIEVANCE.

The practice maintained by the statutes of this Kingdom, of arresting persons charged with petty offenses, instead of summoning them as in other countries, is one of the most mischievous anachronisms that cling to the institutions of the country. Scarcely a day passes without examples occurring of the evils of the practice. It is to be hoped someone will prepare a bill to be submitted to the next Legislature for the abolition of such a piece of semi-barbarism. That people free from any criminal disposition or lawless instincts should, when either justly or unjustly accused of traversing a statute of the realm, be liable to be thrown into a dirty and dismal police cell, in default of finding bail at a moment's notice, is an abuse of the prerogatives of justice entirely unworthy of our reputed civilization. Besides, it is a practice that may at any time provoke international complications, by a foreign subject sustaining humiliation and damage from its operation.

FOREIGN NEWS.

UNITED STATES.

The Ocean Yacht Race.

Captain Nowell, of the steamer British Prince, at Chelsea March 17th from Liverpool, makes the following report: On Monday the 14th, at 9:15 a. m., latitude 40 degrees and 1 minute and longitude 64 degrees and 1 minute, we passed a schooner yacht seven miles to the northward. At 10:10 a. m. the schooner yacht Dauntless displayed her signals abeam in latitude 39 degrees and 55 minutes and longitude 64 degrees and 12 minutes. A strong breeze was blowing and all her sails were set. Every stitch of canvas was being used on both boats. When the yachts were sighted they were about 22 miles apart. This would indicate that the yachts are taking a more southerly course than that pursued by the transatlantic steamships at this season. When the observation was made the Coronet had made about 600 geographical miles and the Dauntless about 589 miles. Though the Coronet was about 11 miles to eastward, she is, on account of her more northerly position, more than that number of miles in advance of the Dauntless.

The late Captain James B. Eads was buried at St. Louis March 17th.

It is rumored that the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton syndicate has bought the Baltimore and Ohio railroad. John W. Mackey is said to have four millions in the deal. Part of the scheme is to consolidate the B. & O. telegraph system with that of all other companies except the Western Union.

President Cleveland and lady are invited to attend the G. A. R. annual encampment at St. Louis in September.

A Washington despatch intimates that there is no fear of a financial panic this summer. Congress refused to do anything regarding financial matters one way or the other, and under the present policy of the Treasury Department it is believed that affairs can run along smoothly through any strain that is likely to occur.

Adam Forepaugh has leased the New York Academy of Music at a yearly rental of $40,000. He will charge but 10 cents, 20 cents and 30 cents, with the best seats in the house at only 50 cents. No posters will be used but all advertising be done through the newspapers, and there will be no free tickets, even the press having to pay for admission.

Walter E. Lawton is one of the latest emigrants from New York for Canada, his liabilities being a round million.

Kidnapping wealthy people for ransom is a favorite game in Cuba at present. Fires on sugar plantations are very frequent in the same country.

EUROPE.

A plot to assassinate the Czar on Sunday the 13th ult., was discovered in St. Petersburg. Hundreds of the Constitutional party were arrested, although the conspiracy could not be traced to them. The Pope telegraphed congratulations to the Czar on his escape.

The French Radical Press have bitterly attacked M. de Lesseps for calling France the natural friend of Germany, advising him to stay at home in future and confine himself to canal matters.

A rumor that Emperor William of Germany was going to make the Crown Prince regent is contradicted. He himself said he would stick to his post to the last moment.

Cardinal Gibbons, of the United States, and Cardinal Taschereau, of Canada, were consecrated and received the Pope's blessing at Rome on March 17th.

Mr. Labouchere, M. P., responded to the toast "Ireland a Nation," at the annual banquet of the National League in London on St. Patrick's Day. He closed a brilliant peroration by telling the Nationalists: "You have wandered long in the desert but the promised land is now in sight. Only be true to yourselves and the past, and you must soon enter the promised land."

Dr. Cameron, M. P., editor of the Glasgow Mail acknowledged by cable the receipt of $250 from America for the Scotch Crofters' relief fund, stating that it had been used in buying local and seed potatoes for distribution among the more destitute of the Skye crofters.

Mr. Gladstone, at a dinner given by the Yorkshire members of the House of Commons, referred to his belief in a growing opinion in favor of home rule for Ireland even among its former opponents, and he counseled Lord Salisbury to waken from his sleep if he wished to banish his nightmares. If Ireland in her demands went beyond the limit of self-government in affairs exclusively Irish, subject to the unquestionable supremacy of the Imperial Parliament, Mr. Gladstone said he could no longer support her cause. But so long as the demands she utters are just and within the bounds of moderation, he would stand fast to her cause during what remained to him of political life.

The Austrian army is being rapidly armed and drilled with new magazine rifles.

The fourth division of 700,000 men of the German army, has been equipped and is being drilled with the new weapon.

Krupp's gun factory is running full time. Mr. Kankoff has written a letter to the Turkish Grand Vizier, charging the Bulgarian Regency with creating civil war and shooting people indiscriminately in Silistria and elsewhere. The Grand Vizier, not recognizing Kankoff's status, intimates his readiness to consider any communication Russia may officially make through her recognized representatives.

The village of Birkenberg, Hungary, has been destroyed by an earthquake, the inhabitants taking refuge in Iquagne.

The Bulgarian Regents have placed the whole of the fortresses and garrisons on the coast and river frontiers under martial law, and no one unable to give a satisfactory account of himself is allowed to enter or leave the country. The new submarine works for harbor defenses are practically completed. The torpedo flotilla is forming, fortresses are mounting heavy guns and brought up to war strength.

A guard has been placed over Beecher's tomb.

Rev. P. M. Donohue, of Charleston, Ill., who was lately made a lieutenant in the French army by General Boulanger for inventing a new explosive for torpedoes, calls his invention carbon-esta glycerine. He says it has ten times the destructive power of nitro glycerine and can be handled with a great deal more safety.
